DEEL WOODS POSTER

Large Paien Muss Meeting at Olean-Ole Cottaraugus County Aroused-Speeches by Hon. Heary B. Stanton and Gen.

Cochrane. Special Dispatch to The N. Y. Telbune. Oneas, Thursday, Oct. 30, 1862.

Large Union War Mare Meetings were held here the afternoon and evening. Speeches were made by Hon, Henry B. Stanton, Gen. John Cochrane, and others.

Many persons were present from Allegany, Chantanqua and other adjoining equaties, and even from Pennsylvania. Quite a number of Seymourites were in the crowd. Mr. STANTON spoke at length apon the causes and consequences of the war, and the issues involved in the State election. He exposed the semi-succession tendencies of the Demo-eratic party under the lead of Vallandigkam, Seymour, Van Buren and Wood, and showed that every enconditional Unionist ought to support Wadsworth and Tremain as the representative men of the Na-suconditional Unionist ought to support Wadsworth and Tremain as the representative men of the National Government in this costest. Mr. Stanton was londly applauded.

Gen. Counxiss sold that the critical course of events required that all men should direct this general course of the country. He had, at an early day, foreseen that the present struggle was to be of the transient or restricted character, but comprehensive of the very existence of the Government, and commensurate with the wideal limits of the Republicance to an arceius patriotism, abjured every locally restricted or migricos party association that cut is examines, and had placed himself in the ranks of the sounder of migricos party association that cut is examined, and had placed himself in the ranks of the sounder, or could encumber his boothity, or could encumber his boothity to the syncher thought, that deliverance from the perile which best the administration are degree upon the support which men of all particle hitherto existing should accord to the Administration of argard, constitutionally, with the conduct of the war. The administration was, said the speaker, no tenable ground between achievence to the Administration of the accurace of print of rebellious and his option, but to be one productive of a discovery of the contract of the accurace of print of rebellious and his operation, that we were emgaged, not only the people with its administration. The attempt would, in his option, but become productive of a contract spirit of rebellious and the speaker, no tenable ground between achievence to the Administration and opposition that we were emgaged, not only the propelly with the conduct of the war, the administration of the accurace of print of rebellious and the speaker, no tenable ground between achievence to the Administration of the accurace of print of rebellious and the speaker and the productive of the sucreacy of the sucreacy of the sucre difference of policy in the conduct of the war, at-tested the fact. Such a war proceeded upon and was occasioned by a policy of foreign affairs. Its existence and continuance were reserved solely to that policy, and the defeat of the Government which represented it amounted to but a condemnation of its principles, and the consequent arrect of the war. Not so, however, when civil strife raged—when the war was not foreign, but civil — when the conflict was not for a national policy, but for national and an analysis of the same of the sam war was not foreign, but civil — when the conflict was not for a national policy, but for national existence. In such a war, they who were not with the Government were against it. They who opposed its policy of self-preservation, of a necessity were forced into that of self-destruction. Hence, in such a war as the present all political parties must be in suspension. The aliment of party was the prosperity of a country already established and self-the self-destruction. The people of Kansas have in store a full reckoning for those who have so wantonly sacrificed the lives of their neighbors, and the present all political ends.

He would not pause to consider its constitutional character. But satisfied that, through its instrumentality, the enemy would be weakened, and our strength augmented, he adopted it for its expected effect; and this he did, even while holding unchanged his opposition to the doctrines hitherto known as those of Emanciem. petion and Abolition. The war was not begun or waged to emancipate the negro, or to abolish Slavery. If he thought that it was he would have opposed it,
